Tens of thousands of Australian animals die each year during export through starvation, suffocation, neglect, thirst, excessive heat, trampling, extreme stress and injuries. Many animals arrive sick and blind as a result of the long journey. Animals that reach the Middle East and Asia are subjected to practices that are both unacceptable and illegal in Australia. PACAT's objective is to replace the export of live animals for slaughter overseas with the lucrative chilled and frozen meat trade, and to improve the conditions for farm animals transported within Australia.

Thank you for joining us.
